CPOSC 2014 Sponsor Prospectus

What is CPOSC?

The Central PA Open Source Conference (CPOSC) is a one-day technical conference for open source users and developers. Presentations and sessions cover all aspects of open source, with talks ranging from novice to expert skill levels.

This year's conference will be held at IU 13 in Lancaster, Pennsylvania on Saturday, November 1st and is expected to have 150+ attendees.

Who attends CPOSC?

The target audience for CPOSC includes enthusiastic users of open source including:

- Developers who use open source languages (Ruby, Python, Perl, PHP, Java)
- System and network administrators who use open source tools
- Entrepreneurs who use open source technologies to power their businesses
- Open source project contributors (project committers and organizers)
- Students interested in open source careers
- Educators who use open source in the classroom

Why sponsor CPOSC?

- Promote your company, products, and brand to a targeted audience
- Meet motivated and talented developers for possible recruitment
- Help promote open source software and give back to the community
